

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

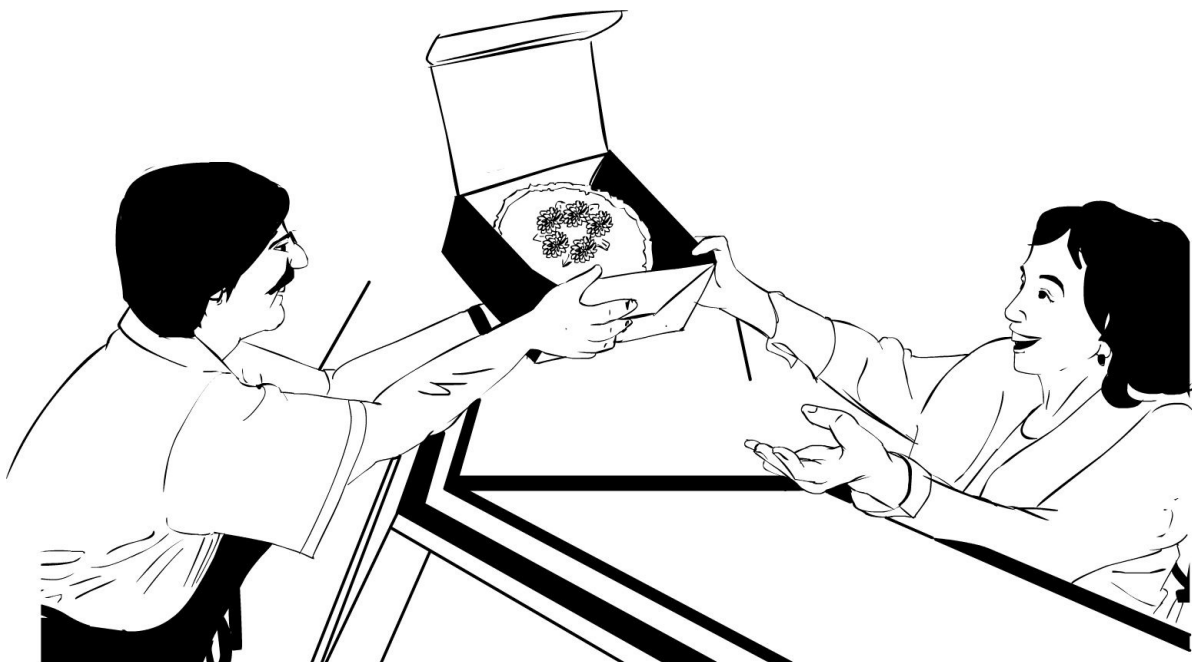

CONTENT

• Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Do you like sweet treats? Let's go to the bakery.

Learning Outcome

Accurately use basic information in simple situations.

Ask your partner:

- What is your favorite dessert?
- Where do you go to buy dessert?

Can Do Statements

- I can use vocabulary about food like dessert.
- I can express requests using could and can.
- I can accept and decline offers using proper punctuation marks.
- I can express quantities using words like much and many.

Let's Explore!

Do you like sweet or salty foods? Let's find out what Christine likes to buy.

* "Salty" foods are the opposite of sweet foods. Desserts are sweet foods.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Baker: Can I get you some dessert today, Miss?
Christine: Yes, please! Could I order five chocolate squares and a lemon cake?
Baker: I'm sorry. We don't have many squares left.
Christine: I can take the cake then. Could I have some coffee?
Baker: Yes, we have a lot of fresh coffee! Do you take milk and sugar?
Christine: Yes, but not a lot of sugar, thanks.
Baker: Anything else?
Christine: No thanks.
Baker: That's fifteen dollars.
Christine: Wow! That's expensive! That's so much! Are you sure?
Baker: Sorry, it is six dollars ... my mistake.
Christine: Hmmm ...

Let's Practice!

Do you remember how to make requests and how to accept or decline offers? Let's find out!

Instructions: Read and answer the questions below.

1. Select the word you use to make a request.
 - a. Can
 - b. Do
 - c. Are
2. What do expressions that accept or decline offers end with?
 - a. Exclamation marks and question marks
 - b. Exclamation marks and periods
 - c. Capital letters and exclamation marks

Let's Practice!

Let's practice asking and declining offers.

Instructions: Complete the sentences using the words in the Word Bank.

Word Bank

alotof / expensive / cake / thank / Can

1. Yes, we have ____ ____ ____ fresh coffee.
2. Could I order five chocolate squares and a lemon _____?
3. _____ I have some coffee?
4. No, _____ you.
5. Wow! That's _____!

Extension Activity

Find the mistake.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Read the note below.
- Find and fix errors in punctuation and capitalization.
- Read the letter to a friend.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I proofread a note.

☐ ☐

I read the letter to a friend.

☐ ☐

I use proper punctuation.

☐ ☐

Dear Pam,

i went to the bakery in Boston the chocolate squares were delicious! do you go to that bakery

*From,
Christine*

Target Words

- expensive (adjective): costing a lot of money
e.g. The chocolate squares are expensive.
- sugar (noun): a sweet substance from the sugar cane plant
e.g. I like milk and sugar in my coffee.
- mistake (noun): an error; something incorrect
e.g. The teacher sees a mistake on her paper.
- to take milk or sugar (expression): to include milk or sugar; to add milk or sugar
e.g. Do you take milk and sugar in your coffee?
- cake (noun): a soft, sweet food
e.g. Lemon cake is delicious!

Learning Points

Quantifiers: Much, Many and A Lot Of

You use quantifiers to show a number or an amount.

Quantifier	Definition	Example
many	a large number	We don't have many squares left.
a lot of	a large amount	Yes, we have a lot of fresh coffee.
much	a measure or amount	That's so much!

Punctuation Marks

You use punctuation marks at the end of a sentence, request or expression.

Look at the chart below to learn how to use punctuation marks.

	Example	Punctuation mark
Sentence	I drink coffee in the morning.	period (.)
Request	Would you like sugar in your coffee?	question mark (?)
Expression	We have lots of coffee!	exclamation mark (!) period (.)

