

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Today is sandwich day at work! What goes in your sandwich?

Learning Outcome

Use information about locations of things to interact with others.

Ask your partner:

- Are sandwiches a good option for lunch at work? Why? Why not?
- What do you put in your sandwich?

Can Do Statements

- I can ask someone to hand me food.
- I can ask questions about what is in the kitchen.
- I can express amounts using some and any.

Let's Explore!

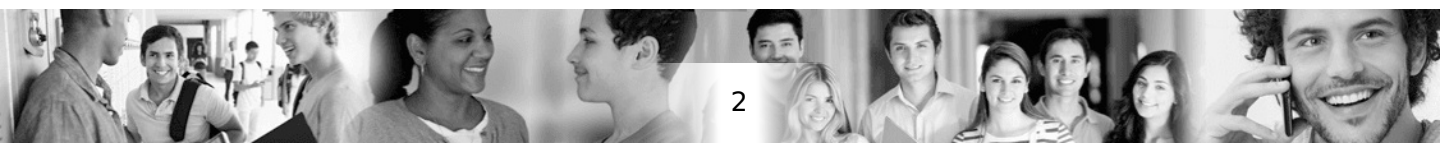

Can you pass the* mustard? What is in Tom's sandwich?

* To ask someone to give you something, you say, "Can you pass the ... ?" or "Can you hand me the ... ?"

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Susan: Tom, it's sandwich day!
Amy: Susan, are there any olives or peppers? I like peppers!
Susan: Yes, there are. There's an onion. There are some tomatoes.
Amy: Is there any mustard in the fridge?
Susan: Yes, there is. There's also some butter and lettuce. Here's some bread, Tom. Make a sandwich.
Tom: Thanks! Can you pass the mustard and hand me a knife, please? Oh, and some cheese and an olive? I love olives!
Amy: Just help yourself, Tom.
Tom: Thanks.

Let's Practice!

Did you understand the dialogue? Let's find out!

Instructions: Select the correct option.

1. Tom asks someone to give him the mustard. He says,
 - ☐ Hand the mustard?
 - ☐ Can you pass the mustard?
 - ☐ Can you hand the mustard?
2. Susan says,
 - ☐ There are also some butters and lettuces.
 - ☐ There are also some butter and lettuce.
 - ☐ There is also some butter and lettuce.

Let's Practice!

Are there any* sandwiches? Let's make some!

* You use "any" to ask if there are one or more of an item.

Instructions: Find the words in the grid.

Word Bank

pepper
knife sandwich
butter
fridge

Extension Activity

What's in your sandwich?

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think about a sandwich you want to make.
- Make a list of what is in your sandwich.
- Don't show your partner.
- Take turns asking and answering.
- Ask your partner questions like: Is there any ... in your sandwich? Are there any ... in your sandwich?
- Answer your partner with: Yes, there is or are some ... No, there aren't any ...

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write a list about what's in my sandwich.

☐ ☐

I look up and say new English words.

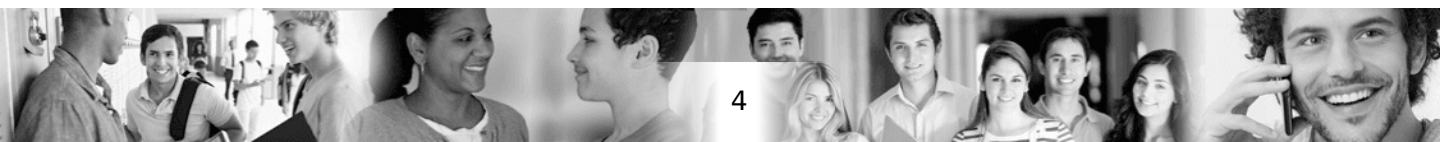

☐ ☐

I ask questions that use Is there/Are there.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- pepper (noun): a green, red or yellow vegetable with a round shape
e.g. Sweet red peppers are great on pizza!
- knife (noun): a long flat instrument for cutting
e.g. This knife is not sharp. I can't cut my apple.
- fridge (noun): an electric appliance that keeps food cold
e.g. Put the food in the fridge, please.
- butter (noun): a yellow food made from milk used in cooking and on bread
e.g. I like butter on my toast.
- sandwich (noun): two slices of bread with other food in the middle e.g. I usually have a sandwich for lunch.
- help yourself (expression): you can take what you like
e.g. Help yourself to the food.

Learning Points

Questions With Is there or Are there

You use is there or are there to find out what is or is not in a place.

Singular	Plural
Is there ... ?	Are there ... ?
Example: Is there any mustard?	Example: Are there any tomatoes?

Some or Any

You use some and any with count nouns and non-count nouns.

Count nouns can be counted. They are singular or plural.

Example: a book some books

Non-count nouns are an amount. They are always singular.

Example: water some water

You use some with count nouns to talk about the number of items.

Example: There are some tomatoes.

You use some with non-count nouns to talk about the amount of an item.

Example: There is some sugar.

You use any with count and non-count in negative sentences and questions.

Example: Are there any olives? No, there aren't any olives.

Example: Is there any coffee? No, there isn't any.