Let's Start!

It's Norman's first day in a new school. Where is the lunchroom?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use basic information in simple situations.

Ask your partner:

- What do you eat for lunch?
- Where do you eat your lunch? At school or at home?

Can Do Statements

- I can ask for help using "Where can I find ... ?"
- I can ask for and give permission.
- I can ask for and offer help using polite expressions.

Let's Explore!

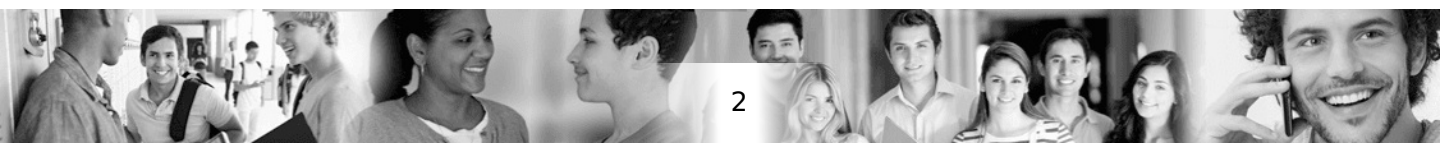

Can I* ask you a question, Mrs. Bates? Where is the lunchroom?

* You use "Can I" to politely ask for permission.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Mrs. Bates: Hi, Norman. You look lost. Can I help you?
Norman: Where can I find the school lunchroom? Can you tell me where it is?
Mrs. Bates: It's down the hall.
Norman: Thanks, Mrs. Bates. Can I ask another question?
Mrs. Bates: Sure, Norman.
Norman: Does the cafeteria have many vegetarian options?
Mrs. Bates: Yes, there are a lot of things to choose from, like sandwiches and desserts.
Norman: Can I ask you another question?
Mrs. Bates: I'm sorry, maybe later. I don't have much time now.
Norman: Sorry about that. Thanks for the help.
Mrs. Bates: No problem. Contact me at tbates@HHSmail.com for more help.

Let's Practice!

Norman asks a lot of questions.

Instructions: Choose the correct answer.

- 1 Norman says ...
 - Can I ask questions?
 - Can you ask me another question.
 - Can I ask you another question?
- 2 Mrs. Bates tells Norman ...
 - she has no time for his questions.
 - she does not have lunch.
 - the cafeteria does not has vegetarian options.

Let's Practice!

Norman is polite when he asks questions.

Learning Points

Ask for Permission

When you ask for permission, you ask to do something or have something.

You use can or could to ask for permission.

Examples:

- Alex: Can I have a cookie, please?
- Betty: Sure you can.
- Alice: Could I ask you some questions?
- Bob: Not now, I'm busy.

Say No in a Polite Way

When you want to say no in a polite way, you use expressions like "I'm a little busy", "Sorry, not now" or "That's okay. Thanks."

Examples:

- Carol: Can you help me with my homework?
- Tim: I'm sorry. I'm a little busy.
- Joan: Can I help you with that?
- Mike: That's okay. Thanks.
